

The Gantt chart displays a project schedule with tasks and their durations. The tasks are organized into columns representing time intervals. The tasks are represented by horizontal bars of various colors (red, green, blue, yellow, orange, purple, etc.) spanning across the time intervals. The chart includes a header with task names and a footer with a date range.

The image displays a Gantt chart with multiple horizontal bars representing tasks and their durations. The top bar is yellow and spans the entire width. Below it are several green bars of varying lengths. A blue bar is positioned below the green bars. A grey bar is located below the blue bar. The bottom section of the chart features a series of thin, horizontal bars in various colors (yellow, green, blue, grey) representing smaller tasks or sub-tasks. The chart is set against a white background with a light grey grid.
